History

The Contemporary was founded on March 17, 1897 by a group of prosperous, educated and civic minded women of Trenton, NJ. The club's purpose was to "create an organized center of thought and action among women in Trenton, and stimulate an interest in science, literature, art, social and ethical culture that will render the members helpful to one another and useful to society." Very quickly, the addition of charitable contributions and looking to the general welfare of citizens became and continues to be a major focus of the club.

To put its founding in historical context, The Contemporary was part of a larger movement of the late 19th century known as the Progressive Era (1890s-1920s) when, in reaction to social challenges brought on by industrialization, urbanization, and immigration, a movement of social and political reform became widespread throughout the country. As part of this, women's clubs were formed across the nation and eventually came together under the General Federation of Women's Clubs (GFWC) which was founded in 1890 to promote civic improvements through volunteer service and affiliated state organizations.

Interestingly, The Contemporary did not become affiliated with the GFWC until 1900 when it joined the New Jersey Federation of Women's Club (NJFWC). According to Historical Highlights of The Contemporary by Virginia A. Hepburn (club president from 1966-1970) this delay was due to a division between club members regarding women's suffrage. Evidence of this is found in the minutes of the regular meetings of The Contemporary. On October 5, 1897 the president announced that The Contemporary had been invited to join the NJFWC and a motion to do so was made and carried. However, on November 2nd of that year, the President deferred action on joining "on account of the rumor that the Fed [sic] had come out in favor of Woman's Suffrage." Members who had attended a meeting of the NJFWC were told that this was not the case, and it was decided to further postpone action. On December 7th it was decided to indefinitely postpone joining. Finally, in January of 1900, the Contemporary became affiliated with the NJFWC.

Governance of the club was regulated by a constitution and by-laws which set out election for officers, establishments of departments and committees and criteria for membership. Division into specific departments has been an important strategy of the club, used to allow full engagement of all members according to their talents and interests. These divisions changed over the years and included departments of: Art, Conservation and Gardening, Drama, Evening Membership, Home and Garden, Junior Contemporary, Literature, Music, Public Affairs and Education, Social Services/Welfare, and Victorian Museum.

Committees also played an important part in management of club affairs, delegating important tasks to specified members. As with departments, these changed over the years but included: Finance & Auditing, Historian/Scrapbook, Hospitality, House, Membership, Nominating, Printing, Program, Rental, and Ways & Means.

In general, the club year ran from autumn of one year to spring of the next culminating in an annual meeting in May. After joining the NJFWC, activities and meetings were closely affiliated with that state-wide organization. Members of The Contemporary sent representatives to NJFWC meetings, reporting on the Trenton club's activities and, in turn, keeping The Contemporary members informed of state-wide initiatives.

From 1916 to 1922, the club sponsored and ran the local settlement house which was established to help assimilate new immigrants into the country. In 1922, it became apparent that immigrant women needed to work in order to support their families and to do this, they needed daycare. In 1922, the Carolyn Stokes¹ Day Nursery was opened on Taylor Street in Trenton, through the generosity of W. J. B. Stokes and under the governance of The Contemporary's Social Services Department. From 1922 to 1952, the nursery was supervised by a board of managers made up entirely of members of that department. In 1952, it was agreed that management needed to expand to the community at-large, so a new board was established. However, The Contemporary continued their interest in and support of the school which relocated to a larger campus in 1965.

As the activities and membership of the club grew, the need for a club house became apparent. After several years of fund-raising and searching for suitable location, a Victorian townhouse at 176 West State Street was finally purchased in 1912. Ten years later, an auditorium was added to the back of the building. This included a stage, dressing rooms and seating for 300 people. In 1971, the townhouse was open for tours as The Contemporary Victorian Museum. The building was certified as a New Jersey State Historical Site and listed on the National Register of Historic Places as a "significant resource" in the State House Historic District.

In the interest of attracting more young women to the club, The Junior Contemporary Club was organized on January 29, 1957 and officially recognized by the New Jersey Federation of Women's Clubs in April of that year². Its purpose was "to create an organized center of thought and action among young women in Trenton," as well as to foster interest "in the social, economic, educational, cultural and civic conditions of the community." Membership to The Junior was opened to young women between the ages of 18 to 35. Like the main membership, the Juniors were governed by an executive board, divided into various departments and scheduled programs and activities throughout the year. The Junior Club continued to function until the spring of 1982 when they voted to disband due to dwindling membership.

The Evening Membership Department (EMD) became a singularly important division beginning in 1958. Born out of a need to provide a structure for working women or for those with small children who could not easily participate in the general clubs' activities during the day, the EMD had its own board, separate meetings, projects and programs. The EMD continued as a separate department until the spring of 2015.

Over the decades of its existence, the club's activities have evolved as society changed. During its earliest years, club members lobbied for better sanitation, regulation and inspection of milk and meat suppliers, public education, child labor laws and institutions devoted to the better welfare of girls. The club has sponsored educational lectures as well as entertainments such as concerts and plays. During both world wars, the club was involved in efforts to support soldiers and their families, specifically focusing on Fort Dix. In addition, the club has made special efforts to support Trenton as a historic place, deserving of greater attention. Beginning in 1986, The Contemporary began the "Four Views of Trenton" guided bus tours of the city and this tradition continues.

The 21st century has seen many changes in the club. Because of declining membership, The Contemporary withdrew its membership from NJSFWC/GFWC in May of 2014 after 114 years of affiliation. Perhaps the most significant change came in 2015 when, faced with rising costs and dwindling income, club members voted to sell the club house and auditorium on West State to the New Jersey Education Association, whose headquarters is directly adjacent to the townhouse. Most of the antiques and Victorian clothing were sold at auction and the bulk of the club's archival records were transferred to Trentoniana. The remainder of the archival records were transferred to Trentoniana in June of 2019.

Despite a smaller group and no club house, members of The Contemporary continue to meet regularly and are active in the Trenton area. They are affiliated with the New Jersey State Historic ² In May of 1920 and again in November of that year, the minutes of the board note the possibility of creating a Junior Club or League of the Contemporary Juniors. In the 1920-1921 report of the president (published in the 1921-1922 yearbook) Mrs. Joseph Middleton reported that those attempts had led to the creation of the Trenton Junior League. At The Contemporary, a Young Matrons Committee was formed to entertain members' children. By the following club year, the Young Matrons had become the Junior Department. This Department continued until its duties were assumed by the Education Committee in the 1931/1932 club year.

District as well as the League of Historical Societies of New Jersey. During their 2016-2017 club year, The Contemporary made financial donations to the Trenton Rescue Mission, Mercer County K9 Unit, Trenton Area Soup Kitchen and the Capital City Philharmonic Orchestra. They also provided goods and services to the Mount Carmel Guild, Trenton Psychiatric Hospital, and the Capital Health Center.

Scope and Contents Notes

This collection consists of papers, publications, reports, photographs, scrapbooks and some artifacts of The Contemporary from its founding in 1897 until club year 2017/2018. The collection consists of 65 boxes, 9 wrapped ledgers and 5 wrapped scrapbooks for a total of 38.10 cubic feet. The material is divided into 20 series as outlined in the chart below.

The Contemporary collection provides information about the history of women's clubs in general and, of course, The Contemporary in particular. It also provides some insight into the activities of the New Jersey Federation of Women's Clubs which steered the focus of many of The Contemporary's projects. The records document changes in the role of women in society and their importance in civic activity and charitable services spanning from the late 19th century up to the early 21st. The activities and charities supported also provide insight into the socioeconomic changes taking place in New Jersey's capital and the surrounding area.

Processing Notes

During processing every attempt was made to maintain the order of material within each series as outlined by the original inventories. When this was not possible (as with the scrapbooks and miscellaneous files) material was arranged and inventoried in the most useful way for researchers to use the records. Although there are no usage restrictions, researchers should note that some of the oldest material is fragile and should be handled with care. In particular, the older scrapbooks and press books in the last series are especially fragile. Notes on books that were dismantled for conservation purposes can be found in the series container list. Finally, the series of Bulletins and Yearbooks contained many duplicates. Copies with unique handwritten notes were kept, in addition to a clean copy. The remainder have been offered back to the donor.

Series Descriptions and Container List

Series I. Minutes

The first series covers the period from 1897 to 2013 and consists of minutes from the four major entities of the club: Board of Trustees, General/Regular Meetings, Evening Membership Department, and the Junior Department. The earliest minutes were kept in separate hardbound books, but over time, they were separate documents that were filed together by club year, and sub-group. Reports filed by club year are arranged as follows: Board, General/Regular, Evening Membership Department, and the Junior Department. The minutes provide information about the early creation of the club, its major departments and committees and their activities throughout most of its history. This includes departmental reports, financial reports, discussions on changes in the constitution and by-laws, policy and administrative issues. Researchers should note that there are gaps in the minutes. This is most obvious in the minutes of the 1960s which were separate documents but included continuous pagination. In particular, it appears that the minutes of the annual meetings of the general club (held in May) are missing in those years.

Series II. Constitutions and By-laws

This series consist of the constitution and by-laws of The Contemporary from its inception in 1897 to 1974. The 1897 handwritten copies are assumed to be the originals. The remainder are printed pamphlets that sometimes include handwritten notations of revisions.

Box 11

1. 1897 [includes signatures of charter members]
2. 1897 [includes membership roll]
3. 1910-1927
4. 1927-1974

Series III. Histories

Includes four histories compiled by club members from about 1982 to 1991. Histories of the club are sometimes included in the Yearbooks. A history of the Carolyn Stokes Day Nursery is filed in series XII with other material relating directly to the Nursery.

Box 30

1. History and Highlights of The Contemporary by Virginia A. Hepburn, president, 1966-1970, ca. 1982 [2 copies].
2. 85th Anniversary History, by G. C. Kuronya, President, 1982
3. History, Mission, Service ~ A 115 year Summary of the Contemporary, author unknown, ca. 2013
4. History of the Evening Membership Department of the Contemporary, Trenton, New Jersey, 1958-1991 by, Mrs. Paul Miller, Mrs. Stanley Stein and Mrs. E. Richard Weasner, ca. 1991.

Series IV. Yearbooks

The yearbooks date from 1897 to club year 2017/2018. For club year 1897-1898, there are 3 separate publications: Constitution and By-laws which include a list of officers and members; Calendar of Lecture Courses; and Calendar of Works which provided a list of club member activities including papers to be presented and discussion topics. The only publication found for 1898 is the Constitutions and By-Laws which again, includes a list of officers and members. Nothing was found for club year 1899/1900 or 2005/2006. From club year 1900/1901 to 1904/1905 the collection includes separate publications for the Constitutions and By-Laws, officers and members etc. and a calendar of club activities. Beginning in 1905 all of this information is combined into one booklet. The content of the Yearbook varies over the decades but in general, they provide a calendar of planned activities, lists of officers, chairs of departments and committees, extracts or complete reprints of the by-laws and constitution, information about the New Jersey Federation of Women's Clubs, and contact information of members.

Series V. The Contemporary Bulletin / The Contemporary

The first part of this series consists of copies of The Contemporary Bulletin, Volume 1, No. 1 published October of 1926 to Vol. 81 No. 5 for May-June 2008. There are some gaps in the collection, most notably there are no copies of Volumes 4 through 7 which would cover club years 1929-1930 to 1933-1934. The second part of the series consist of copies of The Contemporary (successor to The Contemporary Bulletin) covering September 2008 to June 2010. Although the content of the Bulletin varies over the years, in general this publication provides a listing of upcoming club meetings and events. By about 1966, the bulletin was also used as a venue for the president to address the membership.

Series V. Officers' Books

This series consist of material kept in three-ring binders, presumably by club officers to keep important information at hand during meetings. As such, the books duplicate information found in other series, but may also fill in possible gaps in those series. In general, these binders include copies of meeting agendas, correspondence, publications, calendars, budget and financial reports and meeting minutes. Included are books of the President of the Board of Trustees (1976/1977 to 1979-1980; 2013-2014 to 2015-2016); Federation & General Club Chairman (1993-1994 & 1995-1996); and Evening Membership Department Chairman (1995-1995 to 2000-2001). This material has been removed from the binders and placed in folders.

Series VI. Treasurer's Records

This series consists of 13 ledgers kept by The Contemporary's treasurers from March 1897 to May 1985 and a binder containing information, reports and membership reports for the period 1960 to 1990. For identification purposes, the ledgers have been assigned book numbers. Book 1 is an account of dues paid from the foundation of the club in March of 1897 to June of 1925. Books 2, 3 and 5-13 are the general accounts of monies received and spent by the club between May 18, 1897 to April 28, 1972 with a gap for the period between May 25, 1926 and April 30, 1929. Income came from dues, program fees, rental fees for the auditorium and eventually, admission fees to the Victorian Museum. Expenditures included general administrative fees for printing, postage, programs as well as upkeep of the club building and auditorium. Beginning with Book 8, ledgers also include a "recapitulation" of previous accounts written in the back. These appear to be audits of previous accounts which were reviewed and approved by the Chair and other officers. Book 8 also includes an accounting for the Reserve Fund covering the period February 3, 1948 to April 28, 1949 showing deposits and expenditures for funds used for charitable gifts and scholarships.

Book 4 is a check register covering the period September 7, 1910 - February 15, 1912. Book 12 is an accounting of The Contemporary Philanthropic Fund from April 27, 1967 to May 1, 1985. Recipients of charitable contributions included: American Cancer Society - Trenton Chapter, Carolyn Stokes Nursery, Greater Trenton Symphony Association, New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs, State House Historic District Association, Trenton Emergency and Rescue Squad.

Finally, the binder which has been disbound and foldered includes reports, budgets, 1988-1990; new members 1960-1990 and members removed 4/1964 - 4/1990.

Series VII. Membership Records

The membership records come in a variety of forms and were used for a variety of purposes. The Member Book (ca. 1897-1952), and membership cards (1897-1990s) were used to provide comprehensive lists of members and generally included addresses, phone numbers, and date joined. Roll Books (1897-1928), include similar information, a member number and also track payment of dues. Proposed Member books (1898-1962) track candidates for membership through their applications to join including their names, names of their sponsor and those who endorsed them as well as a date of acceptance. All the above sub-series tend to also include notes on resignation or death dates of members. The "qualifications" book (which appears to have been used only in 1906) and the 1926 and 1929 Members Survey cards were used to provide information on an individual's interests and/or abilities. Researchers should note that for any given year, the quickest way to find membership is reviewing the member list in the Yearbooks.

Series IX. Reports

This series consist of various reports found foldered, in binders or in the case of the Community Improvement Plans (CIP) in the form of scrapbooks. These include an incomplete set of reports of the club presidents dating from the club years 1921-1922 through 1998-1999; reports of all the departments that were found filed together either by month or by club year and reports that had been housed in 3 binders (one for each club year) that were labeled “Work Book.” There are also some scattered reports from the Recording Secretary, the Evening Membership Department and the General Club. Finally, Box 27 contains reports of various Community Improvement Programs that were undertaken by the club. Researchers should note that the minutes in this collection (Series I.) are likely to have the most comprehensive collection of all reports.

Series XI. Junior Club

This series consist of reports, correspondence yearbooks and other materials produced by the Junior Department and its successor, the Junior Contemporary Club. Because the Junior Club was overseen by the general club, information about its activities will also be found in minutes of the board and minutes of the general club. Reports of the Junior Club's activities in the Community Improvement Programs (CIP) can be found in Series X (reports). Scrapbooks produced by the Junior Club are found in that series inventoried as 23b, 24a, 24b, 24c, 25b, 27b, 29b, 32, 33a, 33b, 33c, 34b, 34c, 35b, 39b, and 51.

8. Clippings and photographs, ca. 1952-1965

XIII. Guestbooks

This series consist of guest books signed by visitors to The Contemporary Club from 1954 to 2014. There are gaps and overlaps in the various volumes that indicate that different books may have been used for different purposes. For instance, it is likely that the books in folder 2, which are identical, have similar labeling and begin on December 10th of 1970, were used exclusively for visitors to the Victorian Museum which officially opened on that day. Also, a book commemorating the Centennial Year of the Club in 1996 was begun in December of that year.

XIV. Victorian Museum

As has been discussed in the history of The Contemporary, the clubhouse was open for tours as The Contemporary Victorian Museum in 1971. While there is information about the Museum throughout this collection's records, this series includes material exclusively related to it including photographs, brochures and background notes for hostesses providing tours in the museum. There is also a relatively large collection of photographs of clothing once on display at the museum and various descriptions of those clothes. Researchers should note that the bulk of the clothes and other artifacts used to decorate the house were sold at auction before the townhouse was sold. There are also a few pieces of clothes and shoes that are described below in the Textiles and Shoes series.

Series XV. Awards, Certificates of Merit, Proclamations and Letters of Congratulations

This series includes various awards and certificates received by The Contemporary between 1910 and 2012. Among these is the 1910 certificate of membership to the General Federation of Women's Clubs, a 1945 Meritorious Service award in USO [United Service Organizations] War Work; the 1971 designation by the NJ Historic Preservation Office of The Contemporary Victorian Mansion as a Certified State Historic Site and a 1997 letter of congratulations from President Bill Clinton on the occasion of the club's 100th anniversary. For preservation purposes, the material is stored by document size, and within this, arranged chronologically.

Series XVIII. Artifacts

This series includes a few artifacts of the clubhouse/museum. Of particular interest are 3 printing blocks of the etching of the clubhouse’s front door done by George A. Bradshaw (1880 - 1968), a Trenton artist known for his illustrations and etchings. This etching was used on the cover of The Contemporary’s Yearbook beginning in the 1955-1956 club year. The etching was contributed to the club through his wife Mary Passon Bradshaw, who was a member of the club and served as chair of the Art Department in the 1940s.

Series XX. Scrapbooks

This series consists of 102 scrapbooks and pressbooks spanning the years from 1897 to 2014. The pressbooks consists of newspaper clippings that report on the activities and accomplishments of The Contemporary. The Scrapbooks may include clippings as well, but also include printed programs, notices, photographs, decorative embellishments and often copies of the Yearbooks or the Bulletins. These books not only provided a way to document the history of the clubs, but eventually became part of a competition held by the State Federation of Women's Club's in which women's clubs throughout the state submitted their books which were judged on form and content. In many years, several books were produced by different divisions of the organization including the general club, the club historian, the Evening Membership Department, the Art Department, and the Junior Club. When the first set of these books were received by Trenton Free Public Library, they were assigned SB (scrapbook) numbers and shelved with the Trentoniana's general collection of scrapbooks. It was subsequently decided that these books should be physically stored with the larger collection of The Contemporary's records. In order to more easily inventory them and provide access, the books were arranged in date order and assigned numbers. In cases where more than one book was produced by the membership in a club year, the general club's book came first, then departmental books and finally the Junior Club's book. Since some books were added after the initial arrangement, a, b, and c designations have been added to avoid the need to renumber the entire series.
